DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. Claims 8, 27, 30, 33 and 35-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nowak et al. (5,720,901) in view of Rosenblatt et al. (3,483,965).

Nowak '901 discloses a printing plate packaging box comprising: a box main body (30) which accommodates a bundle of printing plates (10) and which is provided with a supply opening through which the printing plates are taken out; said printing plates being in direct contact with said box main body; an opening/closing lid (31) which is removably attached to said box for opening/closing the supply opening; and a light shielding member (circumferential side plate portions, not numbered, see Figure 2 embodiment) which prevents direct entry of light from outside into the inside of the box main body, provided in the vicinity of a zone in which the box main body and the opening/closing lid are connected to each other in an assembled state, the light-shielding member (circumferential side plate portions) being connected to the opening/closing lid such that the light-shielding member blocks the direct entry of light from outside into the inside of the box through the zone in which the box main body and the opening/closing lid are connected to each other in the assembled state, and said light shielding member being circumferentially larger than said box main body such that said light shielding member surrounds and covers an outermost portion of said box main body.

With respect to claims 35-37, the light shielding member is in sliding contact with an outermost portion of the box main body when the lid is removed from the box main body.

Nowak '901 as described above disclose all the limitations of the claim except for a smooth sheet-type material adhered to the outer surface of said opening/closing lid. Rosenblatt '965 discloses that it is desirable to provide a sheet-type material (heat-shrinkable plastic film 13) of which surface is smooth and air tight (see column3, lines 3-7) onto outer surface of an opening/closing lid to provide a smooth taut dust cover on the lid. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide a sheet-type material of which surface is smooth and air tight to the opening/closing lid of Nowak '901 as taught by Rosenblatt '965 to provide a smooth taut dust cover for the lid.

With respect to claims 38-40, the sheet-type material is parallel with the bundle of photosensitive printing plates.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed November 16, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to applicant's argument that the examiner's conclusion of obviousness is based upon improper hindsight reasoning, it must be recognized that any judgment on obviousness is in a sense necessarily a reconstruction based upon hindsight reasoning. But so long as it takes into account only knowledge which was within the level of ordinary skill at the time the claimed invention was made, and does not include knowledge gleaned only from the applicant's disclosure, such a reconstruction is proper. See In re McLaughlin, 443 F.2d 1392, 170 USPQ 209 (CCPA 1971).

In response to applicant's argument that Rosenblatt '965 is nonanalogous art, it has been held that a prior art reference must either be in the field of applicant's endeavor or, if not, then be reasonably pertinent to the particular problem with which the applicant was concerned, in order to be relied upon as a basis for rejection of the claimed invention. See In re Oetiker, 977 F.2d 1443, 24 USPQ2d 1443 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, both references are in the field of packaging and protecting the content stored therein.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
